COMPANY INFORMATION

A Brief History of Umialik

Umialik Insurance Company was founded in 1981 when the Ukpeagvik Inupiat Corporation in Barrow, Alaska saw a need for Native-owned insurance services. Umialik is Inupiaq for “Captain” – both as a captain of a whaling ship and as a leader in the community.

In 1981, our first policy was issued to an Alaskan Native corporation for a property in Barrow. Since then, our focus has remained on offering insurance products for Alaskans, by Alaskans.

Our local underwriting and claims staff have the knowledge and expertise to write insurance coverage specifically tailored for Alaskans and Alaskan businesses. We offer both commercial and personal insurance products throughout the state, and we sell these products exclusively through professional Independent Insurance Agents.

In 2011, we became part of the Western National Insurance Group, expanding our product offerings and increasing our financial strength and stability. We currently have an “A+” (Superior) IX rating from A.M. Best, the insurance industry’s premier rating organization.

Today, Umialik Insurance Company employs more than 35 employees and continues to grow. Our office is based in Anchorage, Alaska, and we take pride in our history. Alaska is where we live, work, and play.

We are proud to serve our local communities and sponsor events such as the March of Dimes for Babies, the Armed Forces YMCA Combat Veterans Fishing Tournament, and the Midnight Sun Fun Run in Fairbanks, which benefits children, adults, and seniors with disabilities in Interior Alaska. We also continue to sponsor events around the state in conjunction with the Independent Insurance Agents with whom we partner.

Alaska is our beginning, our focus, and our future.

Umialik Insurance Company – Peace of Mind. Made in Alaska.

What is credit history?

Credit history means any written or other communication of any information about individuals by a consumer-reporting agency that:

1. Bares on a consumer's creditworthiness, credit standing, or credit capacity
2. Is used or expected to be used, or collected in whole or in part, to serve as a factor in determining eligibility or rates for personal insurance

What is an insurance score?

Insurance scores are confidential rankings based on credit history information. The score is developed from specific credit information that reflects credit management patterns such as collections, bankruptcies, outstanding debt, length of credit history, types of credit in use, and the number of new applications for credit. This is a measurement of how a person manages financial affairs and is not based on individual income.

What's not included in an insurance score?

Insurance scores do not include the following information: ethnicity, nationality, religion, age, gender, marital status, familial status, income, address, or handicap.

Why is Umialik using credit history and insurance scores?

Insurance scores provide insurers with additional predictive information that is distinct from other rating variables. Insurance scores predict the average claim behavior of a group of people with essentially the same credit history. People with low insurance scores tend to file more claims.

Over the years, Umialik has been watching the use of insurance scores as a rating tool by many other insurance companies and has studied the powerful correlation between credit history and potential risk. Credit information significantly improves insurers' ability to make accurate predictions about which consumers are likely to experience claims. This results in a more accurate cost of coverage based on a customer's claim potential. That means an improved overall pricing system and a reward of lower premiums for lower risk customers.

Are insurance scores the same as credit scores?

Although both scores use credit information, insurance scores are developed using a unique mathematical formula that helps insurers predict the likelihood of insurance claims. Credit scores are the scores used by banks and other financial institutions to help determine both eligibility for and interest rates of loans for cars, houses, and credit cards. As insurance scores and credit scores are designed to measure different outcomes, different results may be shown.

What is the process for obtaining an insurance score?

New Applications – Personal information, including credit information, is gathered when applying for personal insurance. Umialik requires the policyholder's signature on the application and the notice of information practices (both documents contain the authorization to collect and disclose personal or privileged information).

Renewals – Umialik will reorder an insurance score every three years, and any change in the discount will be applied upon renewal.

The policyholder may request a reordered insurance score no more than once every twelve months. Any change in the insurance score will be applied upon renewal.

How will public record information and credit history be used?

Umialik uses public record information and credit information as two of several tools to underwrite an account. Public records and credit information are not used as the sole reason for declining an application. Other underwriting reasons for declinations include, but are not limited to, poor claim experience, poor property condition/maintenance, ownership of animals, unacceptable liability exposures, unacceptable violations/loss history, excessive mileage driven to work/school, and previous poor payment history with Umialik.

Umialik will not decline coverage of personal insurance if there is an absence of a public record report, absence of credit history, or if public records are unable to be determined with complete and accurate information.

Umialik also will not use the following types of credit history to decline coverage, calculate an insurance score, or determine your rate: credit inquiries not initiated by the policyholder, inquiries identified on credit reports relating to insurance coverage, multiple lender inquiries identified as being from the home mortgage industry or from the automobile industry and made within 30 days of one another, and the total available line of credit (however, the total amount of outstanding debt in relation to the total available line of credit may be considered.)

Will an agent see the public record information, credit file, or insurance score?

No. Umialik understands the sensitive nature of credit information and keeps public record reports and insurance scores strictly confidential. Agencies, however, will be able to see the tier the score falls into.

Can insurance scores be improved?

An insurance score is a 'snapshot' of an individual's credit bureau report information at a particular point in time. Scores and credit can be improved by paying bills on time, keeping balances low on credit cards, and applying for and opening new credit accounts only as needed. Scores change gradually according to how credit is handled. For example, past credit problems impact the score less as time passes. Credit history changes as new information is added to credit bureau files. Therefore, by taking the time to improve credit, policyholders can qualify for lower insurance premiums.

Checking credit reports periodically is beneficial. Credit reports contain information that identifies an individual's debts, payment history, tax liens, bankruptcies, credit report inquiries, and accounts referred to collection agencies. Equifax, Experian, and Trans Union maintain credit reports. Should there be an error in a credit report, the credit bureau should be contacted. If a revised insurance score is reported to Umialik resulting from a discrepancy or error in credit history, the factor will be revised with the premium adjusted at inception of the affected policy or upon the renewal policy.

Personal Umbrella Insurance

Unanticipated events can result in large losses that generate expenses beyond the limits on your Personal Auto or Homeowner policy.

For Example:

- You cause an auto accident that permanently disables another driver.
- Your pet dog bites a child, causing physical and psychological harm.
- Your child is accused of cyber bullying, resulting in a defamation lawsuit.
- You accidentally injure someone while boating or hunting.
